THE pamphlets here catalogued were collected by Sir Anthony Panizzi and presented by him to Mr. Louis Fagan, who in turn presented them to the Reform Club in 1880 on the completion of his biography of Panizzi.

They have never been fully catalogued before, and the Library Committee consider them of sufficient importance for the history and literature of Italy to warrant the issue of this descriptive list in the hope that it may be of service to a wider circle of students of the subject than have access to the catalogue in the Club Library.

Avesani (G. F.).

The Peace of Villafranca: thoughts of G. F. A. 8vo. 1859. Pp. 16. P 14 (8).

Points out the measure of freedom which must be given to Venice in order to prevent her looking to Piedmont as a deliverer, which, however, can have no lasting effect.

Azeglio (il marchese Massimo d').

Ai suoi elettori. 12mo. Torino. 1849. Pp. 72. P 19 (1).

Defends himself from charge of having become a reactionary. Warns against demagogues, and expresses the need for the Italians of preparation for political life. Disbelief in the "Young Italy" propaganda. Criticizes the government for giving way to popular clamour at Genoa.

— Degli ultimi casi di Romagna. 12mo. Italia. 1846 (Jan.).
Pp. iv + 100 + xxvi. P 20 (5).

Occasioned by a revolt at Rimini in Sept. 1845. Reverence for Catholicism and the Pope, but points out all the abuses in the judicial and administrative system. Recommends protest, especially against foreign rule.

— Discorso pronunziato davanti la camera de' deputati in Torino, il 12 feb., 1851, da M. d'A. . . . presentando il bilancio pel ministero degli affari esteri. [Italian and English on opp. pages.] 8vo. London. 1851. Pp. 31. Foreword by Panizzi.

Pp. 3. P 8 (3).

Denies having any correspondence with Lord Palmerston, and that the English government were conspiring with the Italian Liberals.

— Sul libro "Degli ultimi casi di Romagna" e sulle speranze d'Italia fondate su Carlo Alberto: parole a Massimo d'Azeglio d'un suo compatriotta. 12mo. Paris. 1846.
Pp. 131. P 20 (2).

Comments on points of D'Azeglio's work, emphasizing the despotism of the Italian governments. On a separate page in front is an "Avviso importante," dated Bastia. Pp. 71-130. "Sulle speranze." Considers these hopes vain.

— Sulle "Questioni urgenti" di M. d'A., esame e confutazione di un Romano. 8vo. Torino. 1861. Pp. 56. P 16 (6).

Answer to Azeglio, who dissuaded from choosing Rome as capital of United Italy on account of its bad political past, its unhealthiness, etc.

The present movement in Italy. Translated from the Italian.

8vo. 1847. Pp. iv + 57.

P 13 (3).

"Designed to conciliate both the princes and the people of Italy to the policy of gradual and temperate reform." From F. P. (the translator?)

Azeglio (Roberto d').

Articolo nel "Risorgimento" No. 98, 20 Aprile, 1848, scritto in seguito ad una lettera del Prof. Paolo Toschi. Fo. 1848.

Pp. 2.

P 25 (8).

"Supplemento al numero 18 dell' 'Unione Italiana.'" The Duke of Parma had put himself at the mercy of his subjects and surrendered his power to a regency. The people of Parma were blamed for looking after their own affairs rather than the larger issues for North Italy. Toschi states the facts; D'Azeglio approves.

— La corte di Roma e il vangelo. Folio. Torino. 1859. 2 pp.

P 16 (3a).

The abuses of the Papal court and government contrary to the precepts of the Gospel.

— Le pastorali politiche dell' episcopato. 2a ediz. 8vo. Torino. 1860. Pp. 56.

P 16 (4).

Refutes the notion that the head of the Church must have civil dominion in order to remain independent. The liberty and independence to which the Italians aspire is a result of Christian teaching.

Babbage (Charles).

An analysis of the statistics of the clearing house during the year 1839; with an appendix on the London and New York clearing houses, and on the London railway clearing house. [Reprinted in part from the Journal of the Statistical Society, 1856.] 8vo. 1856. Pp. 33.

The independence of Italy. Translated from the Italian.

8vo. 1860. Pp. 101.

P 13 (12).

Preface dated 6 April, 1859. Independence of Italy necessary to the peace of Europe. War now the only remedy. "With Miss Elliot and Miss Grimes's compliments."

Savarese (il barone G.).

Le finanze napoletane et le finanze piemontesi dal 1848 al 1860. 2a ediz. 8vo. Napoli. 1862. Pp. 39. P 24 (3).

Defence of the Neapolitan financial system, showing that no fresh taxes were imposed nor crown property sold in Naples, 1848-59. Large expenditure of Piedmont. Presented by author.

S[avini] (C[arlo]).

Mozione presentata alla magistratura comunale di Bologna da un suo concittadino. 8vo. Forlì. 1831. Pp. 7. P 27 (10).

A demand for the administrative and judicial reforms recommended by the congress of the ambassadors of the five great powers at Rome.

Schiavi

del Tiranno Sardo! Fo. S.l. [c. 1831.] P. 1.

P 27 (22).

Broadside written soon after accession of Carlo Alberto, 1831, encouraging the Italians to rely on their own arms, expel the oppressors and unite Italy. Mentions the failure of the Bolognese revolt, 1831.

Scialoja (A.).

I bilanci del regno di Napoli e degli Stati Sardi, con note e confronti. 8vo. Torino. 1857. Pp. 141. P 24 (2).

Comparison of the budgets of Naples for 1856, and of Piedmont for 1857, in reply to attacks on the financial system of the latter country. Presented by author to W. E. Gladstone.

Sclopis (Federigo).

Delle relatione politiche tra la dinastia di Savoia ed il governo britannico (1240-1815): ricerche storiche, con aggiunta di documenti inediti. 8vo. Torino. 1853. Pp. 188. P 16 (1).

Documents pp. 143-188. Presented by author.

Senesi (Filippo).

Su Francesco da Bologna, calcografo e tipografo, e sulla di lui sconosciuta edizione del canzoniere del Petrarca riveduta da Tommaso Sclaricino Gammara letterato bolognese: memoria.

8vo. [Perugia, 1842.] Pp 11.

P 23 (1).

Also the article as it appeared in the "Giornale Scientifico-Letterario di Perugia," 2 Trimestre, 1842, pp. 177-185. F. S. cut the Aldine cursive and Greek types, and printed four books in 1516.

Sercognani (il gen.).

Réponse à deux ministres (Extrait du "Courrier Français" du 23 août 1831). 8vo. [1831.] Pp. [3.]

P 27 (16).

Di una miniatura che si vede nella prima edizione d'Omero nella Biblioteca Nazionale. [Estratto dal Giornale "Il Paese" an V., n. 4]. 12mo. [Napoli.] [1863.] Pp. 11.

P 5 (9).

Panizzi supposed the subject to be Piero de' Medici to whom the book was dedicated in 1488, and Settembrini supports this view. Plea for making it accessible to the public.

— Il Tasso dipinto di Bernardo Celentano. Ad Antonio Panizzi. . . . 8vo. Napoli. 1864. Pp. 23.

P 5 (11).

Draws attention to the excellent work of this artist who seemed a product of the new Italy.

— L'università di Napoli. [Napoli. 1862.] Pp. 23.

P 25 (11).

Defence of the ancient university system at Naples. Unique in Italy in having all the courses free, but allowing private tuition without restriction of programme. It is proposed by the government to institute matriculation examinations, a four, five, or six years' course, with examinations at end of each year and a final examination. The students will have to pay the professors or private tutors in the university.

Shakespeare (William).

See Madden (Sir F.). Observations on an autograph of Shakspeare.

[P 2 (7)].

Sismondi (J. L. de).

L'avenir. (Extrait de la Revue Encyclopédique.) 8vo. Sept.
